

Auditing

Cameron-Cole offers a wide variety of services to help our clients meet their Environmental, Health & Safety (EHS) regulatory requirements, and in some cases, voluntary environmental and social commitments.

Using well-established protocols, Cameron-Cole has employed a systematic approach to EHS auditing for clients in numerous economic sectors.

Our services include –

- Preliminary EHS compliance assessments, as a first step in gauging performance
- Partial or full EHS compliance audits covering requirements at the federal, state and local levels for individual sites or groups of sites in the U.S. and abroad
- Supply chain auditing of environmental and social issues
